Parent's Guide for Early Literacy

The Office of Early Learning and Literacy (OELL) at the South Carolina Department of Education (SCDE) and the Office of Virtual Education are committed to a vision for family engagement that ensures families and community members actively engage with children, students, teachers, school personnel, education leaders, and decision-makers as full partners in the shared responsibility of preparing all learners for college, career, and citizenship.

A Family Engagement Framework has been developed following a statewide collaborative effort of stakeholders for districts and schools to use as support for family and community engagement.

The SCDE created Supporting Early Literacy at Home: A Parents' Guide, which is a tool for parents and families that promotes children's early literacy development. Use the following link to learn more!
